Welcome Dr. Rusty Sullins

We are pleased to announce that a new dentist will be joining the Cripple Creek and Woodland Park offices of Forest Edge Dental Care. Dr. Rusty Sullins started practicing with us at the start of June. Dr. Sullins completed his undergraduate studies at Oklahoma State University, the University of Oklahoma, and Grayson College in Sherman, Texas.

Prior to dental school at the University of Oklahoma, he worked at North Texas Construction in Sherman, Texas as an estimator / project manager. He was involved in the bidding and building of multi-million dollar plants, churches, and schools in Texas, Oklahoma, and Arkansas. Prior to that, he worked in the oil industry, logging and perforating oil wells.

Dr. Sullins is very excited to be a member of the Forest Edge family, and to be able to contribute his 24 plus years as a family and cosmetic dentist. Prior to coming to Colorado, he had a private practice in Kingfisher, OK, and another in Oklahoma City, OK. Dr. Sullins strives to treat all of his patients as friends or family, not seeing patients just as a treatment plan or dollar signs.

When not practicing dentistry, Dr. Sullins enjoys camping, fishing, hiking, and hunting with old friends in the Glenwood Springs area. He also enjoys sailing, scuba diving and spending time with his two sons, Trent and Jacob, and his girlfriend, Jan.

We would like all of you to help us welcome Dr. Sullins to our dental family as he continues the tradition of excellent dental care to the people we are privileged to serve.
