

With Bible in Hand

Faith comes by hearing the Word of God

There is a saying that the Bible is the world's best-selling book and the least read. Its claim to be the Word of God can only be proved through acquaintance – rather like getting to know a friend. It is clear that, although men wrote the words they worked under the direct inspiration of God.

In the first century AD the Apostle Paul, appealing to worshippers of the Greek god Zeus (their god of thunder) spoke of the God of the Bible as “the living God who made the heaven and the earth and the sea and all that is in them”. (Acts 14:15)

Writing to his young friend Timothy he says, “All scripture is ‘breathed out’ by God and is profitable for teaching....that the man of God may be competent....thoroughly equipped for every good work.” (2 Tim 3:16)

“The entrance of Your words gives light; It gives understanding to the simple.”
(Psalm 119:130)
