

Are Dental Implants the Right Choice for Me?

If you are missing all of your teeth, you have several replacement options from which to choose. These include both removable and non-removable options. Removable options include dentures supported by implants alone, or dentures retained by implants. Non-removable options include teeth that are fixed (cemented or screw-retained) to the implants. Some offices specialize only in one single type of treatment. Dr. Hogan focuses his comprehensive general practice in dental implants that support the right teeth to fit your individual needs. You deserve to hear all of the options available so that you can pick the best one for you. Call us today to schedule a consultation that evaluates your personal needs and desires.

Removable Dentures

For centuries, dentures have been the only treatment for patients missing all of their teeth. Dentures quickly, efficiently and economically restore one's smile. But you need to know that not all dentures are equal. Dental materials and laboratories vary from quick, careless and discounted to unhurried and refined. In addition, some offices make a denture in one or two rapid appointments. However, working with a valued dental laboratory Dr. Hogan uses an unhurried, deliberate process. He takes the necessary time putting in the effort to create worthy and valued dentures.

Dental Implants to retain Removable Dentures

Dental Implants can be used to replace any number of teeth from a single missing tooth to a full set of teeth. An implant is a painless and inert titanium platform that supports any number of teeth. Full arch (complete upper or lower) removable implants typically require 2-4 implants. Implant removable restorations are often more cost-effective, easier to maintain and have a better life-long prognosis. Don't be shocked to learn that when supported by 4 or more implants, removable restorations can be completely stable in the mouth. Dr. Hogan enjoys creating beautiful smiles with removable implant-supported restorations.

Dental Implants to support Fixed Teeth

Fixed teeth can not be removed by the patient. They are either cemented or screwed into the dental implants that support them. With very good reasons, we often recommend more than 4 dental implants to support fixed arches. When non-removable, some patients enjoy greater confidence in their smiles. Come visit Dr. Hogan to learn the benefits of what fixed teeth can do for you.

Immediate Teeth and Teeth in one visit?

There has been much buzz on radio and television about immediate teeth and smiles. Dr. Hogan is able to provide this service. However, you should know that not everyone is a good candidate for this type of service. This treatment involves careful selection of patient understanding of the potential risks and complications. A majority of cases have best results with more careful and deliberate treatment. However, if the patient is ideal and immediate teeth are possible then we can offer this service as well. We offer an array of treatment from immediate to delayed placement of teeth. We advise you don't make a hasty decision. Before you rapidly and terminally remove all of your teeth, consult with Dr. Hogan to get all of your options. Let's pick the choice that is best for you.

Am I a Good Candidate for Dental Implants?

It is likely that you are a good candidate for dental implants as there are very few contraindications. During your initial consultation, Dr. Hogan will review your detailed medical history and complete medications list. He would honestly inform you of any concerns and work with you to correct them, or he would advise you of a safer, simpler and more cost-effective treatment that meets your individual needs and goals. Dr. Hogan offers all types of dentistry so he will not push you into a dental implant treatment if it is not in your best interest.
