

PAM JONES

FOR MAYOR

My name is Pam Jones (age 57) and I live @ 225 Ed Harris Road, Ashland City, TN. My husband and I have been married for 38 years & counting (Lord willing).

I have two children: Walton Jones & Christy Stuard and six grandchildren. I have lived in Cheatham county most of my life, I have served our county for many years. I've been a member of FCE (Family Community Leadership) since 2011. I have thousands of volunteer service hours and awards from the UT extension: Certificate of leadership, Cheatham FCE Member of the Year 2014 & completed the Memphis School of Preaching classes for wives with a Certificate of Achievement, a graduate of the Great Commission School, Nashville, TN, and I've earned an associates in bookkeeping. I also work with the Cheatham County Fair!

Cheatham county has a special place in my heart: my father, mother, many of my love ones are buried here and many members of my family still live here today

Having lived in Cheatham county most of my life, I have never seen a time like today when our future depends on the choice voters make this year for COUNTY MAYOR.

There is so much potential in our county today, but it's not because of our current leadership. It's because of folks who live in our county, hard-working and raising a family on their hard earned tax dollar.

There are many challenges that need to be addressed: 1st School safety, 2nd Poverty levels, 3rd Irresponsible economic development projects and a local government without accountability.

These are but a few of the difficult problems that can only be fixed with strong focus and commitment. I'm ready to make that commitment & make Cheatham county a better place to live.

I want to be your next county mayor, because I can work with anyone and I listen to everyone. That is the type of leadership this county has been lacking the last few months. I knew the late David McCullough and his family for many years before his untimely death. David McCullough was a great county mayor and my friend. He had great vision, a conservative way of thinking, an eye to see, an ear to hear, a discerning mind and a compassion for others. I am not a politician looking to move up the food chain. I just want to make a difference in the county that I love.

I am running to make Cheatham county a place of opportunity for young people, families and a more hopeful place for those who have been left behind. It is time to start telling our children they matter by strengthening our public schools and investing in their education. It is time to start telling our citizens they matter by providing them the best services possible. Also, it's time to start telling our families they matter by making sure we are providing them a safe place to work and live. I've always heard, "you're part of the solution or you're part of the problem."

I want to be COUNTY MAYOR because I know I have the experience and vision needed to be part of the solution. My door will always be open and I will always be happy to help anyone who asks for help.
