DO YOU NEED TO RELOCATE?

Sometimes the need for a move is unavoidable. If you are relocating to another city for a new job, be sure to get professional advice from your REALTOR® and your tax advisor.

Your REALTOR® will work to market your current home, refer you to a top REALTOR® in your new city, and give you the names of the best long-distant movers, so you can get competitive quotes from reliable firms.

Your tax advisor will tell you exactly what moving expenses you can deduct on your income tax filing. Publication 521 from the IRS (www.irs.gov) can provide you with the basic information regarding moving expense deductions.

Moving to new and unfamiliar places is right up at the top of the stress list, and most people feel a little overwhelmed by the prospect. Your REALTOR® completely understands all the difficulties and rewards of making a major move and can be your best advisor to make your move as easeful and enjoyable as possible.
